THE PASSPORT NUISANCE.

We trust the Legislature will abolish the passport system when it next assembles. There is no tax or impost which causes so much annoyance, for such small and questionable results, as this one. At the arrival and departure of a steamer there is no end of grumbling and complaint. One gentleman who remained over with his servant from the Australia on her last trip, and who has been a frequent spender of his money, had very great difficulty in procuring a passport and getting off at the last moment by the Mariposa, because he had lost his hospital tax receipt—another imposition, by the way, which should certainly be abolished. The gentleman referred to intended to return to the Islands, as the climate suited him; but the passport nuisance was too much for him, and he has resolved to pass the remainder of the season on the Coast, as he preferred living in a country where it was possible to move about freely without vexatious government interference and restrictions.

This is one only of a score of cases that might be cited. The hold-over passengers by the Zealandia complained bitterly of being taxed $2 each for the privilege of remaining a couple of days in Honolulu. Our city is suffering serious loss by the imposition of these taxes upon strangers visiting the Islands. The Hawaiian Kingdom is the lightest taxed country on the earth's surface to-day, and it can afford to support its sick and destitute without compelling strangers to contribute towards its charity fund. Upon every point of view the hospital passenger tax is bad; but the passport tax, with its possibly ruinous penalty, is a scandalous and disgraceful to any civilized community, much less one which professes to be an expression of the highest form of practical Christianity.

VALUE OF OUR TOURIST TRAVEL.

Some time ago, when we suggested that the streets of Honolulu should be put into a decent state of repair, and that the footpaths should be properly formed and graded, a contemporary suggested that we could get along very well without tourists, and that what was wanted was to attend to our own domestic concerns. The license question was far and away beyond all sanitary considerations, looked at in its moral bearings; and so it was all around the circle. But those who write and talk in this way forget that Honolulu has outgrown its primitive day, and has become a commercial city of some importance. Moreover, it is a point of growing interest among foreigners, and that feeling should be encouraged to the utmost.

To show the money value of tourists to this community, we may state that one California gentleman and his wife, recently here, spent $1,300, and a friend who accompanied them spent in equal proportion. This is a sample of many others who have come and gone, and whom a few of our leading citizens endeavored to entertain suitably. But the social line is certainly a very narrow one, the duties of hospitality being thrown upon a few. It is quite clear that there is one Apostolic injunction which is contemned in Honolulu by many who think they are "fulfilling all the law and the prophets." And that is the injunction regarding hospitality towards strangers. Fortunately, there are a few sensible people who entertain for the sake of social amenities, and thus maintain a good report for the city among visitors.

But as a money proposition, which the most exclusive will fully understand, tourist travel contributes not a little to the profits of general trade. Retail stores, photographers, curio vendors, hotels, restaurants and livery stables benefit directly, but of course all do so more or less. The Oceanic Steamship Company is working hard to develop this travel, and our fellow citizens should do their part by making the city attractive.

SANITARY AFFAIRS.

While the U. S. S. Hartford was in port, her medical staff made inquiries regarding the sanitary condition of the city. "No drainage; water supply practically insufficient." This was the burden of the information they received. These gentlemen were greatly interested in our health and charitable institutions, and will doubtless make a valuable report to the Medical Bureau of the Navy Department; but this report cannot fail to indicate many defects, more especially in regard to sanitary matters.

We cannot too strongly urge upon all concerned, the paramount necessity of providing for a proper water supply and drainage system. Upon the completion of these a very great deal depends. Primarily the health and well-being of the inhabitants of Honolulu are concerned. But the reputation of the city abroad is also a matter of the very greatest importance. Honolulu has come to be regarded as a sanitarium by people in all parts of the world. We have had troops of visitors and sight-seers from the Pacific Coast and Eastern States, while not a few travelers by the Australian route stop over and enjoy the picturesque and unique scenery of these Islands. As a matter of course they all pay their way, many of them spending their money very liberally. But if we are to have a continuance of this desirable tourist business, we must see to it that the city drainage and water supply are at least moderately good. The last spell of dry weather, just immediately preceding the rain, was accompanied by far too many unpleasant odors to be at all agreeable, and by its general prevalence giving the impression that the soil is thoroughly saturated with sewage matter, which must in time breed fevers of a malignant type unless an adequate remedy be provided. We may say that this remedy is an abundant water supply, and a comprehensive drainage system.

Departures for the Coast.

Among the passengers who left Honolulu yesterday by the O. S. S. Mariposa, we noticed the following well-known residents and visitors: Colonel Claus Spreckels and Mrs. Spreckels, E. C. Macfarlane, Hon. J. S. Winter, Miss Helen Houston, Mrs. J. H. Maynard, Mrs. J. M. Oat, Jr., W. M. Scribner and wife, Rev. R. Wainwright and wife, Miss A. Parke, Col. P. Donohue and wife, Mrs. Dargie and ex-Governor Downey, of California. They and a number of others were fairly besieged by friends and acquaintances bidding them good-bye, and the scene on the vessel's deck and the wharf was an animated one, albeit all missed the music of the band.

Police Court.

BEFORE POLICE JUSTICE BICKERTON.
FRIDAY, May 15th.
Nance, charged with being drunk and disorderly, forfeited $12 bail.
Young Mow is an express driver, and took in five passengers yesterday, which is more than the law allows. He was therefore fined $2.

Sing Chew was charged with selling liquor without a license. The case attracted a crowd of Chinamen to the court room. A mass of conflicting testimony was given, and the judge reserved his decision till this morning.

The case of Luning against Lederer and Rosenthal will be argued to-day, and judgment rendered on Monday next.

The Yosemite Skating Rink—Very Successful Reopening.

The Yosemite Skating Rink was reopened last evening. There was a large number of young ladies and gentlemen in attendance, enjoying this healthful and graceful exercise, roller skating. The rink itself has been almost entirely rebuilt, and the floor, measuring 70 by 90 feet, covering an area of 6,300 square feet, is entirely new and splendidly laid. One noticeable feature of the rink is that the floor is entirely clear. The roof is very ingeniously framed and supported by a massive arch that does away with all central posts. Polo and other games can be played on it, and it would be a splendid place for a skating carnival. Dressing rooms are provided for ladies, as well as gentlemen, and Mr. Wall has taken great pains to make the Yosemite Rink what it is—a cool, orderly, health resort, where ladies, young or old, can enjoy themselves without the slightest annoyance.

By the last steamer one hundred pairs of new skates of the most approved pattern, models of strength and lightness, were received by Mr. Wall, and they were in active demand last night. The Hawaiian band was in attendance, and played at frequent intervals. At least a hundred skaters were on the floor at a time, and they, as well as the many lookers-on, enjoyed a very pleasant evening.

A roll of bills has been lost, for the recovery of which a reward has been offered.

As the City of Tokio is now overdue from Yokohama, which port she was to have left on the 28th of April, it is more than likely that the complement of Japanese passengers which Consul Irwin expected to have ready for her on that date, was not obtained, in which case the ship would proceed direct to San Francisco, and not touch here.
